Calls for private enterprise

Alderman claims Waveland gas costs could be cut 44 percent

BY EDGAR PEREZ
Waveland Alderman Charles Johnson on Tuesday proposed the city relinquish its natural gas supply operations and

FmHA deadline is Sept. 30 on disaster loans

Farmers in Hancock County planning to apply for federal emergency loans to help recover from drought losses should file applications no later than Sept. 30, 1977, according to the Hancock County office of the U.S. Farmers Home Administration (FmHA).

turn the enterprise over to private interests, specifically, the Mississippi Division of Entex, Inc.

"Entex could save each and every household in Waveland as much as 44 percent on a minimum usage of 10,000 cubic feet," Johnson said.

"The prices we are charging for gas are ridiculous," Johnson stated in his arguments that the city should get out of the business of making a profit from its gas customers.

"I've always been against the minimum being so high," he said, as he reported Entex proposes a minimum charge somewhat lower than the city's current rate which is in excess of six dollars.

"If we didn't have a profit-making enterprise in this city we would have to raise taxes 100 percent," said Mayor John Longo as he countered Johnson's proposals. "Entex is a customer of United Gas Pipeline and so is the City of Waveland," Longo said, adding, "so how could they give us a better deal?"

Johnson proposed that Entex, being a much larger user of natural gas than the City of Waveland, could purchase at volume prices and pass the savings on to its Waveland customers.

Longo argued that the city of New Orleans, due to its regulatory capacity, has not been able to remove politics from the utility business, even though utilities in that city are in the hands of private enterprise.

"That city council is still in the utility business whether they like it or not," he said.

Johnson said he feels the $61,000 profit realized by the city of Waveland last year from its gas and water operations "is an untrue figure." He said the profit margin would not look so high for the city's gas operation if the figure could be broken down into both water and gas returns.

"Use of revenue sharing funds in the gas operation also contributes to the false nature of the 'profit' figure," Johnson claimed.

Beat line shift may result from county census totals

by JAKE JACOB
Beat redistricting and voter re-registration were mentioned Tuesday when county supervisors were presented the final special census report showing population densities in the county.

The census, was sought following continuing submission to the effect that population hikes, being made increasingly evident in new construction starts and expanding rural development, had probably put the county beyond the 20,000 total, a figure sought as baseline in federal funding application.

In a letter signed by Daniel B. Levine, associate director, Bureau of Census, Washington, Hancock County's total

Douglas McQueen, principal, Waveland Elementary School, has resigned effective immediately.

In a letter to the Bay-Waveland Municipal School Superintendent J.D. McCulloch, McQueen asked the school board to accept his resignation to head count, as of June 17 of this year, was 19,360.

The thoughts on a possible beat line shuffle arose following a review of population densities.

Beat 1, mainly concentrated in the southwest portion of the county, but including part of the City of Waveland, shows a total population within its confines of 3,176.

Of this count, 2,516 live in the rural area, and 660 within the Waveland city limits.

Also taking in part of Waveland, but stretching through the northwest section of the county, Beat 2's total population came in at 3,547, with only 1,295 of these

Claim docket under fire, council non-rubber stamp role promised

by JAKE JACOB
A "get tough" policy towards the monthly claim docket has been adopted by Bay St. Louis City Council.

Meeting Tuesday the council stated that all items appearing for payment must in future be fully identified and explained or approval for payment would be withheld.

Several claims were taken from last month's docket prior to the balance being approved. These items will be paid following satisfactory explanation being received, Council stated.

Councilman Fred Wagner said that he would only vote for acceptance of the claim docket "once or twice more," unless more responsibility was displayed on the issuance of purchase orders and in provision of invoice detail.

Exception was taken by council to a practice of city vehicles purchasing large amounts of gas from private stations when such stations were located within a mile of the city pumps.

"If a driver fills up in the morning, with the exception of the garbage truck which spends its whole day stopping and starting, there is no way you can tell me a vehicle is going to run out of gas during the day, particularly within one mile of the city pump," Councilman Larry Farve said.

In the same vein, Mayor Larry Bennett pressed claim for a reopening of the city's motor vehicle shop, stating that a mechanic and helper employed on a full time basis would still be less expensive to the city than a continuance of the present system.

"I am in favor of supporting local merchants but they must put a mark-up on parts. We should be able to buy at wholesale," Bennett allowed.

He cited costly repairs to various city equipment as another area that would be eliminated by the shop's re-opening.

Bennett also presented a resolution of appreciation from council to Carl Arnold who recently retired as Utility Department Superintendent after 21 years with the city.

Mayor Bennett thanked Arnold for his service and dedication to the city, particularly for his work during the difficult days following Hurricane Camille.

classrooms as a result of the storm damage were accommodated Wednesday in temporary facilities in the school cafeteria and library.

The school was vacant at the time the tornado struck about 1:40 p.m. Monday due to the Labor Day holiday.

Classes in the school system were suspended Tuesday, Lizana said, due to a continuing tornado watch in this area.

Storm "Babe" is alive and well

by EDGAR PEREZ
Hurricane Babe, after spawning tornados and drenching Hancock County, and most of Southern Mississippi and Southeastern Louisiana over the Labor Day weekend, is still a discernable weather system and could regain her lost strength in an expected move out over the Atlantic tomorrow.

The National Weather Service said late yesterday that the remains of Babe—now classified as a low pressure system—were centered over the Chattanooga, Tenn.- Huntsville, Ala. area.

Babe's stormy weather is expected to move today through central North

Waveland honors doctor, cites community, service

By EDGAR PEREZ
The Waveland City Council and the town's volunteer fire department, in special ceremonies this week honored a physician for his continuous and dedicated service to the fire department.

Dr. William Bradford, a Waveland resident currently practicing in Long Beach, received a testimonial plaque on Tuesday from the City Council.

Making the presentation were Mayor John Longo and Fire Department President Don McIntyre.

McIntyre cited the doctor especially for his efforts in developing a special fund for the fire department to purchase badly needed rescue equipment.

"Dr. Bradford recommended we purchase this rescue equipment. He was a major contributor and helped generate other contributions," McIntyre said.

"Now, thanks to Dr. Bradford, we have the money we need to get the Gas cut ...

"We can give the people of this city a better deal, and I would like to see something done about this gas situation and still insure adequate supplies," Johnson said.

Following their discussion of the city's gas operation council agreed to call a special meeting, if necessary, to meet with representatives of Entex in order to continue in-depth study of Johnson's proposal.

In other action the board authorized purchase of two water pumps totaling some $5,000 and gave the zoning commission authority to call a public meeting on proposed Coleman Avenue zoning changes.
City water works personnel have reported as inoperative pumps at Central and Nicholson Avenues and at Nicholson Avenue and Old Spanish Trail.
Mayor Longo declared the situation
an "emergency," authorizing City Clerk Barbara Rappold to replace the pumps now out of service.

"Our investigations show that to repair these pumps would cost the city some $2,100 apiece and we would only have a ninety-day warranty," he said.
The mayor added that purchase of new pumps at an additional $400 each would entitle the city to a five-year warranty on the equipment.

Longo urged the aldermen to move cautiously in giving the city to further changes to commercial zoning.
"The city was first zoned in 1963," he noted, adding, "We could run out of residential property if we're not careful."

Changes to be considered at the forthcoming public hearing authorized Tuesday night are all from R-1 residential to C-1 restricted, commercial.
Property involved includes those lots facing Coleman Avenue between Arlington and Central Avenues; those facing Terrace between Arlington to

five lots past Bourgeois St., and lots facing St. Joseph Street between Arlington and Central. The board authorized the printing of some 50 to 100 copies of the city's zoning ordinances which are to be offered for sale to the general public.
Also at Tuesday's meeting, the board:

-Accepted a bid from Crown Equipment Co. to purchase the two inoperative water pumps. Crown offered $258 for one and $752 for the other.
The other bidder, Emile Piazza, offered $100 apiece for the pumps.

-Accepted a bid from Paine Supply Co. to supply 3,000 feet of steel gas pipe for $1.08 per foot. Davis Meter and Supply submitted a bid of $1.40 per foot.
-Agreed to make an on-site inspection of properties involved in possible violations of construction ordinances concerning drainage and fencing at 104 Nicholson.
-Approved the nomination of Mrs.

Nancy Cox as Waveland representative to the board of trustees of the Hancock County library system.

-Reconfirmed the city policy that the "mobile home" type of structure must meet the Southern Standard Building Code before it may be made permanent within the city limits. The Southern Standard Trailer Code is not an acceptable standard for permanent installation within city limits.

-Authorized the city clerk to issue payment of some $65,713 in bills for the previous month.
-Authorized closing of the tax rolls.
The city clerk stated there had been no requests for changes while the rolls were open during the previous month.
-Authorized allocation of revenue sharing funds. The city clerk reported no one present at a public hearing on the allocations Aug. 30.

-Authorized board attorney Lucien Gex to proceed with suits against Travelers Indemnity Insurance Co., the bonding agent on the sewerage projects on which contractors are in default.

Waveland Civic Association (WCA) and a group of volunteers.
Coordinator of the project for WCA was J.A. Lagasse, Jr. His principal assistant was A.J. Diebold.

The volunteers included members of youth organizations in Bay St. Louis, Waveland, and the county proper, as well as members of the WCA and their friends and supporters.

Together the unit raised $1,091 towards the national effort, with a further $50.92 being collected in the "barrage" for the state office.

Here the coordinator reminded everybody that the volunteers will be out again with buckets on the nights of the fireworks, now rescheduled for Sept. 24, at the Waveland Beach.

Lagasse said yesterday that all volunteers, young and old, turned out for the "muscular dystrophy day" in spite of Hurricane Babe, rapidly bearing down, and later the threat of tornadoes.

"We got worried when the storm started and started seriously affecting our weather, particularly in the early morning hours of Monday, but all the volunteers came to man telephones," Lagasse said.

He particularly thanked the WCA membership, the youngsters who tried so hard with their collection buckets, but above all, he praised the Waveland and Bay St. Louis merchants who contributed food and soft drinks to the workers. He also had fine praise for the City of Waveland who converted their offices into local telethon headquarters.

Lagasse said the idea for his involvement, and that of the WCA, came last year when after cutting through his finger with a chain saw, he was sitting at home watching the telethon.

"I considered that a fine project for the WCA and offered to act as coordinator," he said.

Lagasse stayed on his feet, inside
headquarters for more than 28 hours, Sunday through Monday, spending much of the time guiding his WCA volunteers.

"It is their baby and they are doing a wonderful job," he said at that time.
Among those "manning the telephones" were: Mayor and Mrs.
John Longo, Jr. of Waveland, Mayor and Mrs. Larry Bennett of Bay St. Louis, Supervisor and Mrs. Bert

the roof laid across the teacher's table in one of the demolished classrooms Tuesday as county workers labored to clear the debris.

At least one student desk was crushed beneath the wreckage. School officials said had the school been in operation with its complement of some 150 students in the damaged areas, it is almost certain serious injury or death or both would have been the result of the tornado's fury.

There were, however, no injuries reported.

Two fourth grade classrooms, a special education class and the music room were destroyed by the twister, according to George Watson, assistant superintendent of the school district. He said it appeared the tornado, in an attempt to lift the roof, had raised it several inches and then dropped it.

FmHA deadline ...

County supervisor, Robert W. Smith, issued this reminder concerning terms of the special Drought Impact emergency loan program, this week. He said Congress has appropriated an extra loan funds this year, but all carry the Sept. 30 loan application deadline.

The deadline rule applies to applications from counties where eligibility for loans is based on drought impact designations made by a Federal Interagency Drought Emergency Coordinating Committee. Hancock County is that type of purposes, or making major adjustments in farming operations, is at a higher rate.

Smith said estimates of loan amounts needed by applicants can be revised if necessary in the course of loan processing. In some cases, production commercial lenders serving their loss this year may not be finally determined until after the Sept. 30 deadline date.

FmHA, the credit agency of the U.S. Department of Agriculture, makes farm emergency loans to cover losses resulting from designated natural disasters to aid farmers in restoration of pre-disaster production levels.

Under new legislation signed into law by President Jimmy Carter on Aug. 4, loans not to exceed $250,000, to offset production loss from disasters occurring since last July 1 are made at an interest rate of 3 percent.

Loans to offset that portion of actual loss exceeding $25,000 are made at an interest rate of 5 percent.

Additional financing for production purposes, or making major adjustments in farming operations, is at a higher rate.

Applicants must show that necessary credit is not available to them from commercial lenders serving their loss this year may not be finally determined until after the Sept. 30 at this point, later filing appeals for amendments as the need arises, need likely to occur when the concerned areas become open for development.

Farmers may obtain further information or file applications at the FmHA office serving Hancock County, Department of Agriculture, located at 503 Main St., Bay St. Louis. Telephone is 467-9008.

Supervisor James Travica took objection to this course of action stating that it would be better to object before the maps were printed en masse, resulting in a necessity to impose considerable change.

The new flood-plain guidelines cover such situations as rain water run off, flash flooding and the like.

Supervisors are to meet with a representative from FIA next month to determine the effect of the new elevations as well as clarify some creek and river designations.

Switching to other matters, supervisors concurred in a port and harbor commission resolution calling for the demolition of an ice house at Bayou Caddy (Bayou Cadet) said to be in a hazardous condition.

The ice house was built by a former tenant of the property, now under the jurisdiction of the port commission, and bank erosion had undermined the structure to such an extent it was no longer safe and had been classed as a "danger to life and limb."

Wilson Wehre, port commission director, said his group had received confirmation of an Economic Development Administration (EDA) grant in the amount of $100,000 for improvements at Stennis International Airport.

The commission has also been informed, Wehre said, that the governor's office intends to make an additional $200,000 available to them in public works money, an amount they intended to utilize as matching funds with EDA to procure an additional $1 million for port and airport improvements.

Hancock County's expanding tax roll received a further boost when the county legislators approved a final plat for the Devil's Elbow development on Rotten Bayou.

To be built by Diamondhead Corporation, the development will contain 34 houses on small lots, in a cluster-type housing, with common access to a pool, two boat docks, and other community features. Individual houses will be in the $75 to $105,000 range, according to Paul Montjoy, manager, Diamondhead, also present.

The long sought railroad crossing at Clermont Harbor received a boost when supervisors agreed to put it into their revenue sharing budget projection.

Under the proposed state aid plan, 90 percent of the cost will be paid by the state and ten percent by the county.

equipment," McIntyre said.

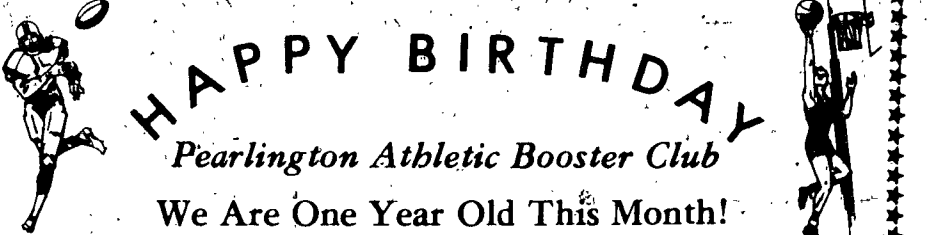

McIntyre also praised the young doctor's work in refugee shelters during Hurricane Camille.

"His demeanor is such," McIntyre said, "that his mere presence in the shelters helped to keep calm and order in what might have been an otherwise very tense situation."

Dr. Bradford has been a member of the Waveland Volunteer Fire Department since 1964.

"He always seems to be here when we need him," McIntyre said, adding the doctor continues to answer fire calls when he is in the Waveland area.

Properties belonging to Ruby Spiro Pick, and E.E. Weigand, were declared a public menace, while an extension of 90 days was afforded a similar resolution on property belonging to Minnie Bennett - after she and her relatives appeared before council outlining a course of action and asking for, and receiving, their endorsement; appeals on properties of Wallace Hawthorn, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Hawthorn, both forwarded from the board of adjustment, were heard, and an acceptance of a tax levy, at the maximum rate of 23.8 mills for the city, and 29.0 for a total of 52.8 mills, was reaccepted. This action had been previously discussed but no formal resolution made. The rate is the same as last year.

In a final item, council asked their legal counsel, Joseph Gex, to obtain a ruling from the attorney general concerning the legal status of deputy city clerks, their duties, chain of command, and whether or not they were eligible to register voters.

living in the country.

Beat 3 boasts an almost 50-50 split between rural and urban dwellers, with 2,069 of its 4,050 total persons living in the farming areas and the balance, some 1,951, residing within the City of Bay St. Louis.

Hancock County's other two beats, three and four, have a reverse sequence of city-country residents, with the majority in both cases living either in Waveland or the City of Bay St. Louis.

Only 1,663 of Beat 4's residents are country fans, and of the balance, some 2,484-1,904 hang their hats in the City of Bay St. Louis, and the rest, 580, share their taxes with the City of Waveland.

The last beat, Number 5, is in effect an urban proposition, with 3,134 of its inhabitants living inside Bay St. Louis city boundary markers, and just 1,306 in the green belt.

The division between rural and urban residents therefore kicks in at 10,481-urban, 8,879-rural.

The metropolitan breakdown indicates counts of 3,492 for the City of Waveland, and 6,989 for Bay St. Louis.

In another page of statistics given supervisors on Tuesday by Chancery Clerk John Rutherford, Jr., a list prepared in the office of Circuit Clerk Henry Otis indicates the county's voting strength is at 13,653.

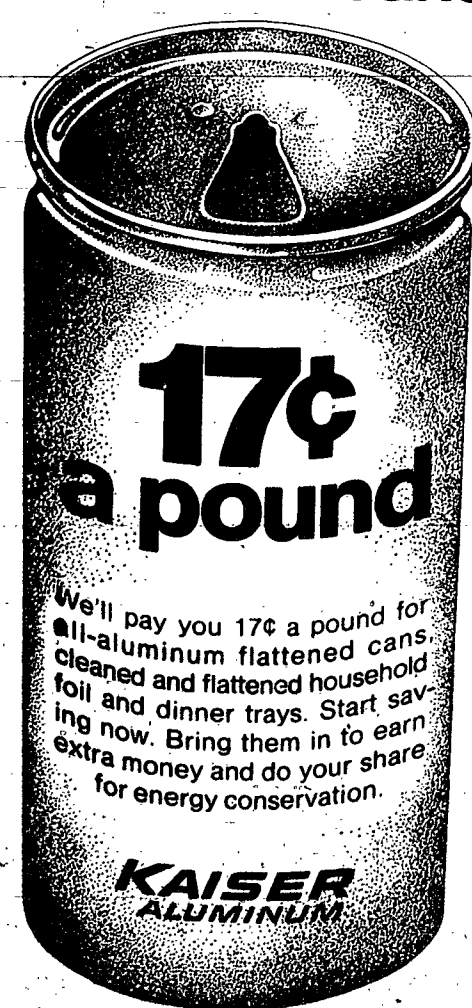

Again by beats: Beat 1 has a total of 2,452; Beat 2, 2,406; Beat 3, 2,922; Beat 4, 2,888; Beat 5, 3,033.

Splitting these once more, this time into precincts: Beat 1, Ansley-99, Pearlinton-639, Clermont Harbor-246, Lakeshore-669, Arlington-499; Beat 2, Flat Top-348; Lectown-490, Waveland-1,495, Bayou Philip-77; Beat 3, Diamondhead East-253, North Bay-

Stanislaus facing season opener by Randy Lankford While most other teams have a game under their belts already, the St. Stanislaus Rock-a-Chaws have their first outing this Friday as they travel to Pearl River Central. Even though Pearl River has a game's worth of experience over the Rocks, head coach Bill Poole still sees his team with the advantage. He has seen his opponent. "We have had a chance to see them play where they haven't gotten to look at us. They beat Poplarville 20-0 last week and looked real good in the game. We know a little bit more about them than they know about us now. "They have a very big team. They have about 33 or 34 boys dressed out but they are big ones. Their offensive backfield had some very big players too. They have an outstanding offense," added Poole.

the Stanislaus boss. The Rock-a-Chaws will pit a 53 or split four defense against the wishbone offense of Pearl River in the first game of the year for the Bay St. Louis school. On offense the Rocks will use a split backfield pro formation against the 53 defense of the home team. Poole added that PRC also uses a split four defense similar to his own. Poole cited desire and pride as the two biggest factors in the forming of his team this fall. He emphasized that it has grown even stronger in the final week of practice, saying that his team is ready to play. Starting his eighth year at SSC, Poole expects another hard nosed game from the Pearl River team. The last time the two schools met was last season when the Rock-a-Chaws took a 7-2 win on a 95-yard fumble return. Stanislaus will open it's first game of the year with junior Peter Burnheim at quarterback. Burnheim, a 160 pounder, saw some action with the Rock-a-Chaws last season at quarterback and is experienced enough to do the job according to Poole. Joining Burnheim in the SSC backfield will be fullback Greg Hammer. Hammer, a senior, is a returning starter for the Rocks and comes into the game at 188 pounds. At tailback will be 134 pound senior Bill Kergosien. Kergosien is also a returning starter for the SSC team. Bruce Morreale will start at by Randy Lankford KILN- Striking like the Hawk it is named for, Hancock North Central's football team took quick control Saturday night and finished the job in short order taking a 31-0 win over the Eagles of OLV of Pascagoula. It took only four minutes for the Hancock team to get on the board with the first of five touchdowns of the night.

Actually, head coach Ervin Favre was surprised with the ease his team handled the OLV squad. Even though he thought his team made several errors in the game, Favre was pleased with the performance in general. "They weren't as strong as we thought they were going to be. They made several errors and we were able to capitalize on them. That was the difference in the game.

"They had five fumbles and we recovered four of them. We also intercepted two passes. That can make a lot of difference in a game. We had a real good performance out of our defense, except for the tackles. They just didn't play a good game. "The defensive secondary did an outstanding job for us. They intercepted two passes and knocked down several others. The two interceptions we had were both by linebackers. They all did a good job too," added Favre. "Our defense gave up only 96 yards rushing and 17 passing. We did a good job on defense. We were able to control the line of scrimmage on both sides of the ball and didn't let them get around us. There weren't a lot of tackles made by the secondary. The guards and linebackers did a good job. I was just disappointed in the tackles."

On the offense, Favre was happy with the point production of his team, although he thought there could have been more.

"We only made one extra point in six tries. They weren't blocking the kicks they were just all going wide. We have worked on that this week and will be better at it in our next game," commented the coach.

Facing another game this week, Favre has worked with his team in hopes of improving the kicking game against the Pearl River La. Rebels. Favre added that it will take a much better effort by his team to win its second game in a row.

The last time the two teams met was three years ago with Hancock taking a 13-12 win. The Rebels have become even more rebellious since then according to Favre.

"We can not afford to make the mistakes we made against the Eagles," said Favre. "If they had been a better team, they could have changed the game with all the mistakes we made."

LIPTON REGATTA - Bay-Waveland has again won the Gulf Yachting Association Sailing Championship for the Sir Thomas Lipton Challenge Trophy sailed at Pass Christian Yacht Club September 3, 4 and 5.

Defending champion Southern Yacht Club's skippers Dwight LeBlanc and Arthur Seaver won the first two races but SYC was disqualified in the third race, ruining their hope for taking the Cup back to New Orleans.

Chuck Breath finished third for BWYC in the first race with Kay Kergosien and Walter Chamberlain crewing. Hoagie Herman of New Orleans Yacht Club was second.

Buzzy Heausler provided a thrilling finish in the second race as he stole second place from John Morrow of St. Andrew's Bay Yacht Club at the last minute with some excellent spinnaker work by his crew Tommy Heausler and Corky Hadden.

After an early 720 in the third race at the rear of the fleet, Bubby Eagan and crew Lynne Eagan and Ed Turnipseed sailed through a squall and near blinding rain to make a comeback to third place, behind Doug Sansom of Pensacola Yacht Club first and Dunkin McLane of St. Andrew's Bay second.

Marc Eagan was BWYC's skipper for the final race on Labor Day which had to be cancelled because of Hurricane Babe churning up atmospheric disturbances on the race course such as waterspouts and 45 mph winds.

The Beauvais Trophy was presented to Doug Sansom as winner of the final race of the series.

Bay-Waveland will host the Fifty-ninth GYA Championship Lipton Regatta on Labor Day weekend next year.

September first was the kick-off day for the Hancock County's 1977 United Way. The United Way is a nationwide campaign run throughout the country just like the one in Hancock, by volunteers.

A goal of $40,000 to be distributed to 13 worthwhile agencies has been set for Hancock County.

Hancock County's United Way (formerly The United Fund) was organized by county citizens who saw the need of raising funds for non-profit, charitable agencies in the area.

Doing it the United Way, is preferable to 13 individual agencies calling on the public at various times during the year for their support. As the name implies, the United Way means the request are all combined into one campaign.

The Agencies that receive support from the United Way must submit their budget for the coming year to it. These are reviewed by the Directors of the United Way along with the Directors of the Agencies.

Most of the United Way Agencies depend entirely upon its support for their funds, but others are government affiliated, such as the Senior Citizens Programs, and need a certain percentage of local matching funds. If you were to double the United Way goal of $40,000, it would be less than the total that is spent in Hancock County for Senior Citizens programs, and it is only one of 13 agencies supported.

Your contributions to the United Way, goes a long way.

We need your help to reach our goal, you can help by making a contribution and also by volunteering to help solicit contributions.

If you have any questions about the United Way, just call Mrs. C.R. Beyer, Executive Secretary at 467-5358.

If you would like to make an advanced contribution, call or mail it to: United Way, P.O. Box 142, Bay St. Louis, Ms. 39520.

Give the United Way ... Thanks to you it works for all of us.

Sail'n along

The Hawks continued on their winning ways Saturday night, picking up where they left off from last year. The win should make coach Irvin Favre real proud of his Hawks. Last year was a big year for Hancock North Central, as it was the best winning season ever in football. Keep up the good work team.

Big things will be happening Saturday night and Sunday evening at the Hancock County Fair Grounds, time of the featured Bay St. Louis Fair Association's Rodeo. If you want to see some real wild west action, just visit the county fair grounds.

Congratulations to the Waveland Civic Association and volunteers for their help during the Jerry Lewis Muscular Dystrophy Telethon. They were able to raise almost $4,000, with the help of so many of you that pledged a gift.

This past weekend sure was a bad one on the weather. Hurricane Babe caused the annual Labor Day activities for many thousands in our area to be cancelled. Of course one can say that they were happy that the weather wasn't any worse than it turned out to be.

Hurricane Babe also delayed the Waveland Civic Association's Annual Fireworks Display. The latest is that they will stage it on Saturday, Sept. 24 at 8:30 p.m., because of weather, and conflicts of club programs. So mark Sept. 24 on your calendar for the big spectacular, the cost of admission is free.

MEMORIES:

We can remember the 30 or 40 folks who sold sandwiches at the L&N depot in Bay St. Louis years ago, a few even sold 'red snapper'. As the passenger trains dwindled, so did these vendors.

'Till next time.

The Peoples Business

WHALES, NOT MINNOWS

Since first created by Congress, the Occupational Safety and Health Administration (OSHA) has made life miserable for small businessmen. OSHA staff members - many with no experience in the industries they regulate - prepared and issued some 5,000 safety regulations which served to harass the employer, rather than protect the employee.

But, thanks to some insight on this matter, Secretary of Labor Ray Marshall has ordered a redirection of OSHA's efforts. The agency will go after the whales, instead of the minnows, the former Mississippiian said.

There was a collective sigh of relief among small businessmen when Marshall announced the change. For much too long, the little men of the business world had been subjected to unannounced on-site inspection by OSHA inspectors, who had the bureaucratic prerogative to shut down the site if they didn't like what they saw.

"The worst thing about wasting time and money on nitpicking regulations," said Marshall, "is that you shortchange the fight against the most serious dangers to human life and limb in the high-risk workplaces."

That is certainly a major concern. And the Labor Secretary is to be commended for placing the focus of OSHA where it should have been all along. But let's not forget the problems faced by small employers who had to suffer the battles with the bureaucratic octopus.

One of the greatest sources of criticism in the past has been from the 5,000 consensus safety standards," one labor spokesman said. "These include many 'micky mouse' rules that burdened employers without really protecting the workers. We are now combing through these standards. We shall eliminate outdated regulations. We shall revise and simplify regulations that are needlessly detailed."

Hopefully, a lesson has been learned which will not soon be forgotten. MEC.

Letters to the Editor

Recently a few of our local citizens have expressed disapproval with actions taken by our mayor-Councilmen form of government. They are disgruntled because water and gas services have been discontinued in cases where past due bills were not paid. Such criticism, in my opinion, is not justified.

The City of Bay St. Louis is a business. Businesses cannot successfully operate without funds. Persons who elect to live in any township apply for various services and expect to pay their pro-rata share for convenience of water in the home, sewage disposal, trash and garbage collection, police protection, fire protection, etc. They also know they must pay taxes on homes owned or rent on homes occupied without ownership.

These things are not FREE.

There are, however, free opportunities provided by our government. There are free adult education classes, which, if taken, enable the student to gain sufficient command of the English language and sufficient training in a vocation to enter the labor force and earn money with which to pay for services. Lincoln said: "The only way to help a person is to help him to help himself." Could we not through news medias inform these unhappy citizens of their rights to an education and job training? In so doing their individual worth and dignity would be restored and rather than seeking ways to escape their responsibilities they would adjust their thinking to the maturity which asks not what can Bay St. Louis do for me, but rather what can I do for Bay St. Louis.

State wells capped, world price rises

(EDITOR'S NOTE: The following is the second in a series of two articles prepared by the Mississippi Economic Council. They detail the proposed National Energy Act's effect on the nation, and Mississippi, in particular.)

In recent decades, Mississippi has become a hotbed of oil exploration.

Since the first well was drilled in Yazoo County, hundreds of other derricks have risen above Mississippi farmlands, with the diamond drill bits digging deep into Mississippi soil - all in search of "black gold."

However, the days of massive oil exploration could be drawing to a close, many explorers think, because of governmental restraints. The hopes of the Magnolia State's becoming a leader in energy production may die with the flickering light of a natural gas torch.

Already Mississippi wells are being capped. Oil explorers are finding it difficult to break even on many of the wells.

It is a problem that is not faced just here, but also elsewhere across the country.

It is a problem that the proposed National Energy Act has failed to deal with. The end result of such governmental interference and price restraints will be more dependence on foreign oil, less domestic production and the possibility of a national energy catastrophe.

In 1973, when the Arab oil boycott threw the economy into a nosedive, the U.S. was importing about 30 percent of its oil. Now, just four years later, we import almost 50 percent.

Current domestic prices for oil are $8.19 per barrel. The world price on a barrel of oil - the price we are paying member countries of the OPEC Cartel - is $14. It is easy to see that a great deal of money is leaving the United States, money which would otherwise be used for development of additional energy resources.

President Carter said the best answer to the energy crisis is conservation. Added production of oil on the domestic front would seem to be an even more logical answer. However, the President's plan would stifle additional exploration, it is contended.

One of the main points used in arguing against deregulation of gas and oil prices is that such action would give oil companies "windfall profits." As a result of congressional action, it seems that government will be receiving the equivalent amount, but none will go for new oil wells or exploration.

The President's plan would raise the price of domestic oil to the world market level in three annual steps. Instead of those additional revenues going to new exploration, they will go to government. Some of the funds will be returned to the consumer on a very questionable basis, leaving the obvious question unanswered: "Why did government take it in the first place?"

New supplies of natural gas and oil become available and feasible as the price rises. It is simply not economically possible for an oil producer to sell his product at a price lower than his cost of production.

Because of the government price constraints, many oil wells are being capped with 75 to 85 percent of the oil remaining in the ground. It is happening in Mississippi. After a certain point, the producer no longer realizes a profit - which could go for further exploration - and he must close the well. If prices were allowed to float naturally, obtaining the remaining reserves might become feasible.

Though the House has approved the plan without the deregulation section, the Senate has the opportunity to alter the bill. For the sake of the nation, many energy leaders hope it does.

Carolina, bringing heavy showers to the Richmond area, the weather service said.

By tomorrow morning, the low pressure system which left its Atlantic Ocean birthplace early last week to become Hurricane Babe in the Gulf of Mexico, is expected to return to the Atlantic and a possible new lease on life.

In the meantime, the National Weather Service said Southern Mississippi could expect a continuation of early morning haze and smoke accompanied by widely scattered showers until after 9 a.m. Friday and Saturday.

A line of widely scattered thunder showers late yesterday moved eastward below a line stretching from Alexandria, La., through McComb to Dothan, Ala., NWS reported.

Health Tip

"HYPOCHONDRIACS"
MADE NOT BORN

How did your mother react to your complaints of a scratchy throat when you were a child? If it was early in the morning, did she kick you out of bed and send you on your way to school with something unmotherly like, "It will get better as the day goes on," or did she make a fuss and immediately call the doctor?

According to an article on research sponsored by UCLA's Department of Medicine in the August issue of the Bulletin of the American College of Physicians, children tend to follow their mothers' pattern of seeking medical care. The researchers also discovered that if the mother thought her child was healthy (or unhealthy) the child usually thought the same way. The implication is that children who are often taken to the doctor for minor ailments tend to grow up high users of medical care or so called "hypochondriacs."

Dr. Charles E. Lewis and his wife, Mary Ann Lewis, a nurse practitioner, do not like the term hypochondriac. The Lewises headed the study at UCLA's University Elementary school which included an attempt to involve the children in the health care process. This was done by allowing each child to initiate visits to the school nurse practitioner and, subsequently, to help decide about the treatment and disposition of the problem.

"What we attempted to do was encourage self-reliance," explained Dr. Lewis, a professor of medicine at UCLA. "It was the child's problem, their cut or sore throat. The nurse would explain the alternatives - wash out the injury, drink water, go home, call mother, go back to class - and it was up to the child to decide the course of action. Then we would attempt to simulate or model. If this happens again, what do you do?" The child would answer: "Clean the area to prevent infection, put some stuff on it, and don't play so hard on the playground for a while."

It is very difficult to deal with health habits after they have been established for 20 years noted Dr. Lewis. Persuading adults to change their ways is an almost hopeless task, but the school physician may well have better luck with the young. To Dr. Lewis, this means to manipulate others; children must have help in learning to deal with stress by other means.

The study involved more than 300 pupils, who were observed for two years. During this period they could go to see the school nurse practitioner by filling out a "care card" without permission of a parent.

Not surprisingly, the same variables that influence "graduates" of child health services - adults - surfaced among the children. Pupils from more affluent backgrounds made more visits and girls tended to use the services more than boys. Also, 15 percent of the children accounted for more than half of all visits over the two year period while 17 percent did not seek out the nurse even once.

The experience also encouraged some of the children to talk directly to "their doctor" stated Dr. Lewis. The pupils also demonstrated considerable ability in caring for their minor injuries. Despite some initial concern along the lines of "But you are supposed to tell me what to do!" almost all the children were aware of the shift in decision-making from "she" (the nurse) to "me" or "us".

Dr. Lewis sees this as hopeful sign for the future, noting that we may "reorganize medicine and develop more elaborate and expensive diagnostic and treatment techniques, but until we accept the fact that each future adult must be responsible for his own health and treat them accordingly, we shall always be looking to others for that which can only come from within."

McCulloch told news media earlier this week that his board had met in special session and voted to accept the resignation. He said a formal announcement to this effect will be issued later.

Work-study

set for Vets.

Full time veteran students who foresee money problems at fall enrollment time should look into the Veterans Administration's workstudy program.

Administrator of VA Max Cleland recognized that new GI Bill payment procedures might leave students who don't have savings from summer jobs in a bind to pay necessary enrollment and subsistence expenses. To help offset this financial headache he has directed that more VA work-study jobs be made available.

GI Bill students can work up to 250 hours per semester for VA and receive $2.50 per hour in addition to their usual education assistance allowance. An advance of up to $250 is available as soon as the employment agreement is processed. The advance covers the first 100 hours of work.

Jobs are available for VA-related work on a given campus or at a VA facility. Priority is established on the basis of service-connected disability, financial need, motivation and the nature of the work. After the first 100 hours, VA pays work-study students after each 50 hours of work.

Details are available from campus veterans counselors or at any VA office.

KNOWLEDGE

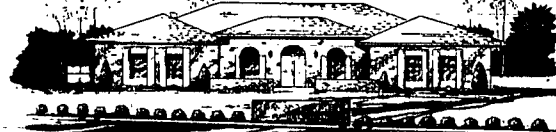

is an asset, the true value of which is most evident in time of urgent need

The Coroner (or Medical Examiner) and His Duties...

When death occurs under certain conditions, the presence of the coroner is legally necessary. The family's first step, however, should be to call the funeral director of their choice. He is qualified to advise whether the coroner's services are required, and if so, will make all the necessary arrangements with him.

Ordinarily, the coroner is required by law to act only in case of accidental death, death from other than natural causes, or the sudden death of a person not recently under the care of a physician. If the coroner must be called he may, at his own discretion, demand a post-mortem examination. In such a case, the family has no choice in the matter.

Naturally, if the coroner has been called by some person outside the family, the choice of a funeral director still rests with the family.

Tigers storm to first win

Anita and Babe weren't the only storms kicking around the coast over the weekend. One blew into Biloxi that no one expected. The Bay-High Tigers took the Notre Dame Rebels by storm with a hard-nosed type of game that is new during the course of the game. Bay High emerged from the contest virtually unharmed. There were of course the usual amounts of bumps and bruises, but nothing serious according to Rhodes. "We came out of the game more of a chance than we should have.

"Those two touchdowns that were called back hurt us too. They were turning points in the game. That took some of the fire out of us. They could have been the difference in the game."

When the Rebels were lining up to try a field goal in the waning moments of the game, the two mixed touchdowns by Bay High loomed large indeed until the kick was blocked and Bay High hung on to win.

The Tigers were shutout in the first half but came roaring back on their first series of the second stanza to get the winning touchdown. Rhodes considered the touchdown march by the Tigers an important one.

"They pretty well had the momentum until we came out in the second half and scored a touchdown. That turned the game in our direction and put us back in control."

Rhodes hopes that momentum will carry over to this week's game against East Central. The Hornets will come into Friday's game with an 0-1 record after falling to D'Iberville last week.

Head coach Jay Fletcher was disappointed with his team's performance in the game but didn't know if he would change anything.

"I don't know what we're going to do. We didn't play well last week and we will have to do something," said Fletcher.

The Hornets will bring a team full of seniors to Bay St. Louis although Fletcher on the scene. The rain at the Bay High-Notre Dame game was no fault of the Tigers. The thunder and lightning on the field was almost all from the Tigers though.

Bay High coach Billy Rhodes said his team would be physical but no one realized just how physical he meant. There were two Notre Dame players taken to the hospital in good shape," said the Bay High boss. "We didn't have anyone hurt and that was good. We need everyone on the team healthy," added Rhodes.

The Tigers opened the season with a roar in Biloxi and will be home this weekend to try to extend their win streak to two games in as many outings. After a year long dry spell the Tigers took a 7-6 squeaker over the Rebels.

The closeness of the game worried Rhodes and he's hoping for more of a margin this week against the East Central Hornets.

"We made a lot of team errors last week and we have to work on that."

"We thought we could beat them but we were disappointed with the team mistakes. We were happy with the efforts of some of the individuals though," added Rhodes.

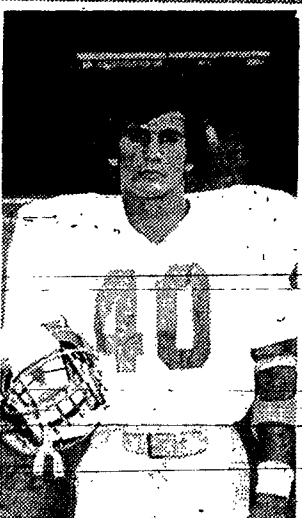

"We made the game close ourselves. We made an awful lot of mistakes and gave them experience. There are 10 seniors on the East Central offense and eight on the defense.

"We only have three starters from last year's offense coming back. There are two on our offensive squad that are in their first year of football. We don't have as much experience as our roster would make you think. There are only two starters returning to the defense too."

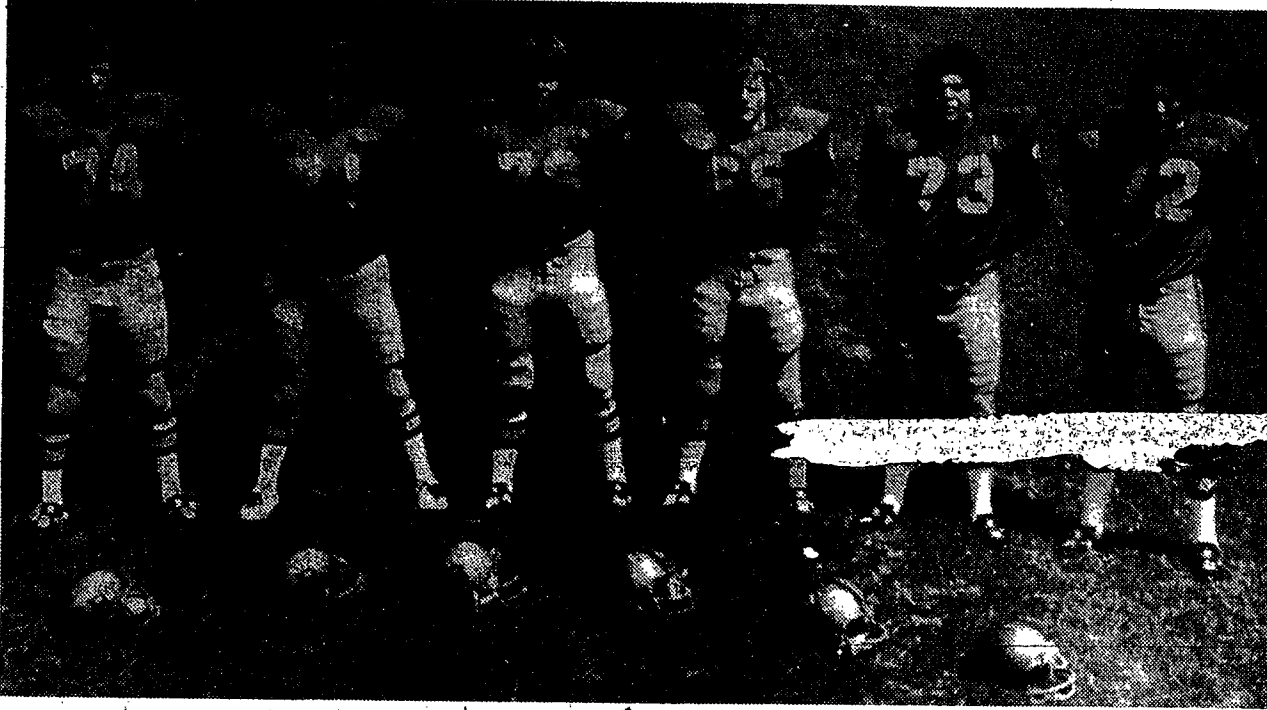

The Hornets will work from a Power-I offense that netted them a scant 64 yards rushing against the D'Iberville team last week. On the passing side, East Central quarterback, Wayne Webb, completed four of 12 passes with one interception in last week's loss.

Bay High will again be in its Power I offense and 53 defense this week. Offensive starters for the Tigers will be: Quarterback, Dwayne Lafontaine, running backs, James Coe and Roy Shubert; center, Hewitt Parsons; guards, Daniel Edwards and James Craig; tackles, Jerry Townsend and Page Hill.

chock; tight end Sonny Palode and split end Mark Hardee.

Fletcher doesn't feel that his team can compete with the Tigers on the physical level that Notre Dame tried, so he will try to "finesse" the Bay High team.

"They are so much bigger than we are that we can't try to outmuscle them. We will take another approach. We will definitely have a better week than we did last week.

"We will go into the game healthy but I don't know how we will come out of it," added the East Central boss.

Rhodes added that the Tigers will be a physical team and that he feels his team can match up with any in the conference when it comes to strength.

"We are as strong as any team in the league. I hate to say that we are stronger but I feel that we can match anyone. We have had some weight lifting matches with some of the other teams and have beaten all of them. That gives me a good indication of how our strength matches."

6 GREAT WAYS TO GET SMILED AT MERCHANTS BANK

- 1 Apply for a loan. Merchants Bank loan officers want to loan you the money you need. They want to make you smile with money for that new car, home improvements, tuition or a personal loan for whatever. The unsympathetic stodgy old banker is unheard of at The Merchants and chances are we'll be able to say yes or no on the spot. We won't waste your time. That, too will make you smile.
- 2 Start a Merchants Bank savings program. We can make it easy for you to save by automatically transferring a specified amount monthly to your Regular Savings, Golden Savings or Silver Savings accounts. We offer passbook and certificate accounts earning from 4 1/2% to 7 1/2%. With that kind of return on savings, we know we're gonna make ya smile.
- 3 With no service charge checking. We offer no service charge checking for students, and for those keeping $200.00 minimum balances in their account during the month. If you do pay a charge, it's one of the lowest in the industry and based on the number of checks you write, not the balance. Betcha that'll make you smile.
- 4 Bonus Checking. See if these features will make you smile: free checks; no service charge; free cashiers checks, money orders and travelers checks; discounts; preferred interest rates: $10,000.00/$50,000.00 accidental death insurance. Betcha they'll make you smile. Bonus checking available only at Merchants Bank on the Gulf Coast.
- 5 Some of the longest business hours on the Coast. Sometimes you can plan your visit to the bank, sometimes you can't. If you must enter your safe deposit box in an emergency, you don't want to find the door locked and the drapes pulled. We close for only 30 minutes a day between 2:00 p.m. and 2:30 p.m. Being open when you need us is another way we try to make you smile.
- 6 By visiting a Merchants Bank office. Every employee of Merchants Bank is dedicated to making your visit like a smile. We appreciate your business, we want your business, we need your business. From the biggest depositor to the smallest borrower, you're not a number at Merchants Bank — you're a valued customer. No matter how sophisticated banking becomes, we'll never sacrifice the personal banking approach to making you smile.

Whatever your banking needs —

Betcha we can make you Smile.

Country musicians give benefit

by JAKE JACOB

The "Country Music Man" to much of Hancock County was, for many years, B.J. Johnson of Radio Station WRJW in Picaune.

When "B.J." got sick recently, the bills mounted and his country music fans and contemporaries, hearing of his plight, did the thing they do best and threw a fiddle contest and country music spectacular a couple of weeks back in the American Legion on Coleman Ave.

Emceed by Flip Johnson, proceeds from the almost all night event, which included a fish fry on the same ticket, went straight to help "B.J."

In the field of "country" this is how it is done.

Rallying to the cause also came Johnny Mack and his Country Cousins, and Ronnie Fletcher and his Country Gang, and fiddlers Oscar Butler, Fred Lumpkin, Jack Moran, and Senator George McLeod.

Working with the fiddlers on guitars, were Houston Busby, Johnny Mack, Bill Prescott, and Lee Fulcher.

Judges for the fiddlers (known locally as fiddlin' judges) were: Ronnie Fletcher, Bill Johnson, and Joe McMurry.

After about one hour of contest, which included initial selections, play-offs, and more play offs, McLeod was given the nod for fiddler number one; and Oscar Butler fiddler number two. Jack Moran came in third, so spent the rest of the night playing guitar for the winners.

Both McLeod and Butler kept the audience of country music fans spellbound with their renditions of such favorites as: Sugar Free Stomp, Lost Indian, Hoedown, waltzes, Malden's Prayer, Listen to the Mocking Bird, and the Catahoula Rag. B.J. Johnson, who was named Mr. D.J., U.S.A., in 1956, has 25 records currently being sold across the country, and is a charter member of Ficap, Nashville, a country music disc jockey organization.

He and his wife live at 1406 Chateau Cove, Picaune, Ms. 39466, for those who want to send a get well card.

Introducing Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia.

Recommended by American Library Association Booklist Review*

The best way to get information is to go to the source.

And that's exactly what Funk & Wagnalls has been doing since 1876, when they began publishing reference books.

Their sources for this new Centennial Edition include hundreds and hundreds of prominent people. Each a recognized authority in his, or her, field of knowledge. Many with Nobel and Pulitzer prizes to their credit. And while they're too numerous to list here, you'll find they're all listed in Volume 1.

The result is a comprehensive, accurate home reference center with over 193,000 indexed subjects. (That's as many subjects as encyclopedias costing hundreds of dollars more contain.)

And each article is written in clear, simple English that gets to the heart of the subject without going over your head.

That's why the experts recommend Funk & Wagnalls.

To introduce you to Funk & Wagnalls New Encyclopedia, we sell Volume 1 at the remarkable introductory price of only 49¢.

So instead of going through a salesman's sales pitch, you just go through Volume 1 and let it convince you to buy the rest of the set.

That way, you find out if it's the right encyclopedia for your family before you pay for the whole set. And you save two ways. First, because Funk & Wagnalls sells their encyclopedias through supermarkets instead of through salesmen there's no commission to pay. Second, because supermarkets can sell in great volume, Funk & Wagnalls can afford to charge you less per volume.

So stop by the Funk & Wagnalls display in any of our supermarkets and pick up Volume 1. It's one of the smartest purchases you can make these days.

BROTHER KEENAN

Brother Keenan ordained

Brother Joseph Kennan, S.T., son of Mrs. Helen Kennan and the late Joseph A. Kennan of Brooklyn, New York, will be ordained a deacon on September 11, 1977 by His Eminence William Washington. The deaconate ordination ceremony will take place at Holy Trinity Mission Seminary, Silver Spring, Maryland at 10:00 A.M.

A native of Brooklyn, Brother Joseph entered the seminary of the Missionary Servants of the Most Holy Trinity (Trinity Missions) in 1965. The young American missionary congregation, founded in 1929 by the late Father Thomas Augustine Judge, C.M., has as its particular aims the preservation of the Faith among those who are spiritually abandoned and neglected, and the development of the lay apostolate.

During the past summer Brother Joseph was assigned to Our Lady of Fatima Missionary Cenacle, Cleveland, Ohio. On a previous assignment he spent one year at Annunciation Missionary Cenacle, Kiln, Mississippi. Along with his three classmates, he will be ordained to the priesthood in May 1978.
